Education - Middle Years, Bachelor

The study of Education is unique because it allows you to guide your education towards the elementary or the secondary route. Both careers vary considerably, but by underlining each career path, you will see the importance on providing a stimulating learning environment in which each child can experience growth and develop. In addition, those in the Education field will work towards identifying children’s individual and collective learning needs, planning and delivering instruction based on student learning needs, helping students learn appropriate knowledge, skills and attitudes, and serving as role models for students.
